Appear TV

Appear TV provides video solutions that enable broadcasters and operators to deliver professional quality video and audio services for various user needs. Our equipment ensures that our customers can provide high quality services and at the same time manage the transition from one generation of services to another. The rapid adaptation of new technologies and changes in end-users viewing habits is an opportunity for Appear TV to capitalize on its large development efforts and innovative leadership. We are therefore looking for more software engineers in order to bring new and exciting products to the market faster.

Software Developer

We are looking for skilled and talented individuals to join one of our development teams. You have a strong interest in software engineering and pride yourself on creating efficient quality software. We are looking for team members that enjoy working across disciplines, such as databases, business logic, as well as front-end development. If you are an outgoing person with a structured mind that appreciates well designed and documented code, then you are the one we are looking for.

You possess qualifications, skills or interests in several of the following areas:
- Software architecture and design
- Object oriented programming in either Java, Python or C++
- Modern application development frameworks
- Distributed systems
- Relational or NoSQL databases
- Deployment solutions, scripting languages and Linux
- Technologies we use:
    - Docker, Git , Yocto, React, Typescript, Cassandra, PostgreSQL and Redis

The successful applicant has strong interests and solid skills in software engineering and take great pride in creating quality software. You have an open mind and enjoy all kinds of challenges. Teamwork is very important, and we appreciate those who contribute actively and thrive in a group environment. Good communication skills and a tolerant attitude are required as we are a multi-cultural organization with employees from all over the globe.

Appear TV offers:
- An open and informal organisation
- Involvement from idea to finished product
- Close interaction with customers
- State of the art products and technology
- An international and engaging work environment
- Competitive terms
